

Cloud Console with 'Kintsugi' Moon Finish

This kintsugi-style take on our classic Cloud shape marries contemporary craft with the Japanese technique of golden joinery. The top begins in separate pieces, which are hammered to produce an entrancingly elemental 'Moon' finish. They're then joined through a process of brazing, which fuses the sections together to produce a network of golden rivulets, unifying the surface. It sits on top of tapered legs, forged using a traditional blacksmith's technique, creating a distinctive, textured surface which pairs beautifully with the craggy top above. The result is a kintsugi table which echoes the traditionally grounded elements of contemporary Japanese furniture using British materials.
